Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 11 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Fine with sunshine. Fresher.

This Evening and Tonight:
A fresher and cooler evening and overnight period than of late. Staying dry, with sunny then clear spells and light winds. Temperatures may dip to mid-single figure degrees Celsius in some prone rural spots. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Saturday:
A cool start in places, but soon warming up to another fine day with plenty of sunshine and light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining mainly fine with sunshine through this period, but perhaps periodically a little cloudier from the northwest. Very warm Sunday, with temperatures moderating a little into the new working week.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.